LIMERICK'S alternative rock quintet Fox Jaw have unleashed their new single, Let It Run.

The tune is a staccato, rock and roll floor filler with a fondness of experimenting with time signatures.

Lyrically, the song speaks of letting go and embracing the chaos of what life brings. Fox Jaw frontman, Ronan Mitchell explains; "Life is what happens when you're busy worrying about what's going to happen. Whatever you decide to do with it; Own it. Make it yours. Let it run."

Let It Run was produced by Mike Gavin of Windings and mastered by Richard Dowling of Wax Recordings, known for his works with acts such as David Bowie, Foo Fighters and Interpol.

Described as 'a modern band with an old soul', Fox Jaw possess a swaggering trend-shaking growl, that always keeps things sweet and melodic with an honest collection of dark brooding pop songs.

With hundreds of shows under their belts, the band have gone from strength to strength since forming in 2007.

In the span of their career, they've amassed 10 Singles, 5 Vinyl Releases, 2 Studio Albums, 2 EPs, 1 Live Album, countless festival appearances, TV appearances and by their own admission, "only one flat tyre."

Fox Jaw have played festivals such as Electric Picnic, Indie Week (Canada & Ireland), Castlepalooza, Knockanstockan, Independence, Sea Sessions, AranMojo, Hard Working Class Heroes, Glasgowbury, Vantastival, Arthur's Day & more.

They've also shared the stage with acts like Against Me!, Steriogram, And So I Watch You From Afar, Alabama 3, The Redneck Manifesto, Jape, Hayseed Dixie & many more.

Fox Jaw have pencilled in a hometown date at the iconic Kashbah Social Club on Saturday, October 5, and tickets go on sale this morning.
