

Strong line-up for End of Summer show

Hermitage Green

THE End of Summer Charity Gig at Scotts Bar features a strong line-up of acts including Hermitage Green and The Brad Pitt Light Orchestra. 6 acts in all will play and 6 charities are due to benefit from all the proceeds.

Headlining is Hermitage Green. The band (Barry Murphy, Dan Murphy, Darragh Graham, Darragh Griffin and Dermot Sheedy) formed in July 2010 in a locked back room of the Curragower Bar. What started out as a spontaneous jam session between friends, soon developed into a strong acoustic outfit with an original sound, for which the band have credited their contrasting musical tastes. Influenced by Mumford & Sons and John Martyn, these interests range from traditional Irish and folk music to metal and have formed the basis of the band's approach to live performance. In their first 12 months together they have played with several notable Irish acts such as Sharon Shannon, The Stunning and The Saw Doctors.

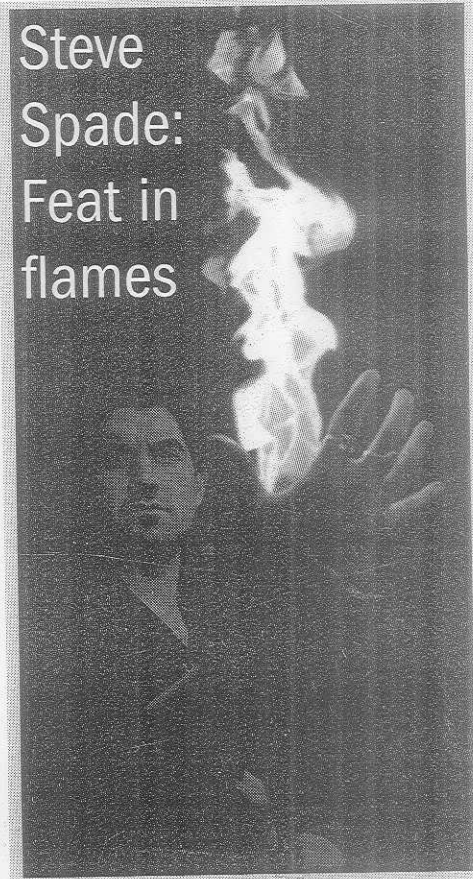

Tickets for the Charity Gig are only €10 and the full line up is Hermitage Green, The Brad Pitt Light Orchestra, Funk Junkies, Contenders, Leading Armies and Deliverance. Also on the night expect a monster raffle and BBQ. It is a ticket only event. The End of Summer Charity Gig happens on Saturday September 8 at Scotts Bar starting at 8pm.

This weekend two of the bands (BPLO and Hermitage Green) get to practice for this show at Electric Picnic in Stradbally.
