CITY OF CULTURE

City of Culture add The Coronas and Leading Armies to NYE bill

Limerick's Leading Armies will join in the New Year's Eve celebrations on Merchant's Quay

THE final lineup for Limerick's City of Culture NYE Music includes Leading Armies, The Strypes, Maverick Sabre, Dolores O'Riordan, The Coronas, Irish Chamber Orchestra and Soak (aka Bridie Monds-Watson).

The Coronas, Soak and local act Leading Armies are the final additions to the line-up that will perform on stage under the spire of St Mary's Cathedral in Limerick on New Year's Eve.

The event is expected to sell out with over half of all tickets already gone. Creative director for City of Culture NYE, Karl Wallace announced, "New Year will be the kick-off for what will be an incredible year. We are delighted that impressive line-up of artists and the level of community engaged events will re-imagine the city as we know it."

Leading Armies inclusion is a major coup for the band who launched their debut LP 'Let's Get Serious' last October. The LP available as a free download on bandcamp.com features six tracks that capture the band's finest moments in their brief career to date. The band made two short films, directed and edited by Shane Serrano, in St. John's Church accompanied by The Markevin Light Orchestra which are now available on YouTube.

The concert which will be televised live on RTE and presented by Limerick DJ Will Leahy, is just one of three unique events taking place in the city on New Year's Eve. Two more events will mark the start of the National City of Culture 2014 - NYE Pageant, a family pageant and NYE Sky, a spectacular fireworks display around key landmarks of Limerick City.

Performing at Merchants Quay from 8.30pm on December 31 will be The Coronas, The Strypes, Dolores O'Riordan, Irish Chamber Orchestra, Maverick Sabre, SOAK and Leading Armies.
