OUTRAGES NEAR ATHENRY.

A series of outrages have taken place near Athenry. Mr. Murphy, of Ballinrobe, has a grazing farm near Kintulla, and the stock were driven through the country and the tail taken from one animal, and others maimed. Mr. O'Loughlin, of Cashel, Connemara, who had a grazing farm near Athens, has his cattle driven from the farm, and some of them injured by the use of the knife. A herd named Fitzpatrick was also subjected to another outrage. One animal of his was fearfully maimed. All these outrages are alleged to be due to the fact that those who hold grazing farms in the district refuse to give that up. No arrests have been made, although it is thought that a large number must have been engaged committing these outrages.
