 and were entitled to them, and they did exercise a little tolerance and consider sacred person in question. Toleration was a thing, but very few seemed to understand He hoped that any objectionable expression was made use of would be withdrawn, and on doing they would not lessen their dignity, on the contrary, enhance it.
 O'Neill declined to withdraw any observahe had made, and the matter then ped.
 P Ryan spoke strongly of the apathetic taken with regard to labourers their families who had left Colonel McAdam's oyment. It was not impossible after all to an uncharitable priest.
 The proceedings shortly after terminated.

IMES ACT PROSECUTION AT ENNIS.
 Saturday at eleven o'clock, Messrs Hodder, and Mercer, R M, sat in the courthouse, and resumed the hearing of the charge against some Clare Castle car owners of alleged piracy, adjourned from the previous evening.
 In MacNamara, Michael MacNamara, junr, John Murphy, were the next batch of defendants.
 Messrs T Lynch, solicitor, and E J O'Meehan, itor, represented the defendants.
 J F Cullinan, S C S, conducted the prosecu-instructed by District-inspector Hill.
 Sergeant George Dowler was examined, and evidence was in substance similar to that in the previous cases; that he asked indi-ally each of the defendants, who are common ers, to bring a load of coal the following 15th December, to the protection post at ernal's house at Killawenna, and offered any fair and reasonable sum they might and, and they all refused, and did not assign reason.
 In cross-examination, he admitted that Murphy been engaged that day drawing road stuff for Patrick O'Brien, Carnelly.
 In case against Patrick McNamara, Patrick lan, Wm McNamara, John Ginnane, and Hickey was heard next.
 Sergeant Dowler gave similar evidence with respect to these defendants. He remembered Patrick McNamara on the 14th December drawing coal to the protection post at Killawenna; said, "I won't go"; he did not assign any on; on 5th December he asked him to draw coal; he said, "I don't own the old horse; and (meaning his mother) mount the dicky go if she likes" (a laugh); his mother, Jane, present on that occasion; in the month of just he employed defendant to draw coal from just to the police barrack at Clare Castle, paid him 6d extra for doing so; he also em-ed him within the past twelve months draw-out material; Wm McNamara said, "I won't I am too busy drawing coal for Mr O'Brien"; on 5th December witness asked him to draw to the protection post, and he refused; he apparently drawing coal that day for Mr lan; on 5th and 14th December he asked Ginnane to draw coal to the protection and he refused; when Michael Hickey was asked to draw the coal he said, "I would be
