FORMER BANK MANAGER

Death in Limerick

The death took place on Saturday evening last in Limerick, where he had been resident for the past couple of years, at the age of 77 years, of Mr. Michael Joyce, former Bank Manager of the National Bank. Mr. Joyce was a native of Tipperary, and the son of the late Michael Joyce and Anne Egan, of Knockakee, Tipperary. He was educated at the Alexandra College, Limerick, and in 1915 he was transferred as Manager of the Camden Street Branch in Dublin, and in 1920 he was transferred as Manager of the South William Street Branch. He retired from his post on September 1st, 1921, after which he lived in London until his death on Thursday morning.

Mr. Joyce was a man of many parts, and his knowledge of peoples, and his ability to get on with all kinds of people, made him a popular figure in the Bank.

Mr. Joyce was a man of great goodness, and he will be missed by all who knew him.

His funeral took place on Thursday morning, and the service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. O'Reilly, of the Church of Ireland, and the Rev. Mr. H. Byrne, of St. John's, Limerick.

Secretary's Address

Mr. J. T. O'Farrell (Ireland), Secretary of the Railway Lerkers' Association, held a meeting in the Hotel on Sunday evening, to discuss the position of the railway workers in the country, with the object of arriving at some conclusion which would be in the interest of all concerned.

The meeting was attended by a large number of railway workers, and the discussion was carried on with great interest.

The Secretary stated that the situation of the Railway Companies was extremely serious, and that the workers would have to take steps to protect their interests.

OLD CITIZEN'S COMMENT

"Intellectually Lazy" (?)

To the Editor "Limerick Chronicle."

Dear Sir,—During the course of a discussion on the subject of "socialism," a man who had lived abroad for many years, and who returned to Limerick some months ago, expressed the opinion that the majority of the people of Ireland were "intellectually lazy," and that the country was suffering from the effects of this state of affairs. He went on to say that, while the country had a great number of able men and women, they were not making use of their abilities, and were not doing anything to improve the condition of the country.

I wish to point out that the country is not suffering from a lack of ability, but rather from a lack of initiative and organization. The country has a great number of able men and women, but they are not making use of their abilities, and are not doing anything to improve the country.

Sincerely yours,
