WILLIAM O’DEA: A FIRST STEP INTO THE LIMELIGHT

William O’Dea

Changes

Success

WILLIAM O’DEA is one of the most unlikely candidates for a seat in the Dáil. His name is unlikely to mean much to many people. And yet at 31 years of age, he has not only placed himself in the public eye but also in the hearts of many people as a young politician with a message.

Victory

Eamonn Cregan, who stood for the Fine Gael party, is one of the few candidates in the election who has not been a member of the party. He is a young man who has made a name for himself in politics through his own efforts.

Frank Prendergast

WHEN dealing with Frank Prendergast, who is a member of the Labour party, it is very difficult to be precise.
