

to this most deserving charity.
If everyone gives just one penny each week in a reasonable period the 6,000,000 pennies required will be collected and no one will miss that weekly penny.

Think of the great work your penny will accomplish and let no week pass without reducing the huge debt.

We again thank all who have arranged the collection and who are so generously subscribing.

We also wish to thank very sincerely all those who support the weekly dance each Friday night at the Stella Ballroom.

Yours faithfully,

ALD. J. CAREW, T.D., Mayor of Limerick, Chairman.

T. J. CORBOY, Vice-Chairman.

J. MURPHY, Hon. Treasurer.

A. McDONOGH, Hon. Secretary.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

(BY MARY HARDING)
OLD HOT WATER BOTTLES.

AN old rubber hot water bottle will make into a useful sponge bag if you cut off the neck and leave one side deeper than the other.

CARE IN THE KITCHEN.

Accidents will be prevented if you remember to place the sharp edges of knives and the prongs of forks downwards in the knife box or drawer.

TOMATO SAUCE.

Don't throw away the vinegar from a used jar of pickled onions. Instead mix it with a small tin of tomato puree, add a pinch of salt and sugar. Boil for about ten minutes and thicken with a little cornflower, and you have a bottle of delicious tomato sauce at very little cost.

WASHDAY TIP.

Clothes which have been only very lightly starched or not starched at all, need not be dampened before ironing if they are brought in and rolled up damp before they are quite dry. It is better, too, to use warm water rather than cold, when dampening down articles prior to ironing.

Wandering Animals Are A Danger!

The danger occasioned by allowing animals to wander on the public road was emphasised by Justice D. F. Gleeson at Rathkeale Court on Monday, when he imposed a fine of 40/- on Daniel Flynn, Fairhill, Rathkeale, who was convicted of causing obstruction to traffic by allowing his horse and foal on the road.

Guard R. O'Brien, who proved the case, told the Justice that the animals were nearly the cause of a serious accident.

Defendant said he had been looking after the horse and foal while they were grazing along the roadside for a couple of hours and had only left them for a few minutes

Towards the close of the day a sacred concert was held, at which many of the students performed and added to a programme of music, song and traditional Irish dancing.

Death Of Cinema Manager Who Became Local Favourite

One of Limerick's kindest and most sociable personalities passed away in Barrington's Hospital in the person of Mr. Clifford Marston, Manager of the local Savoy Cinema. He had been seriously ill for some time past, and despite the best medical skill and attention his end came peacefully yesterday morning.

Though scarcely six years in Limerick—having come from The Pavilion, Dun Laoghaire—"Cliff" won the affection and esteem of numerous citizens because of his sincerity of purpose, gentle affability and kindness to everyone. It was these striking traits of character that quickly won for "Cliff" Marston a popularity that was enjoyed by young and old. To the children who patronised the Savoy, he had an endearing place in their hearts. They looked upon him as "Uncle Cliff," the entertainer and compere who had given them so much joy at special matinees.

Though a native of Harrogate, Yorkshire, in that kindly heart of his was also that determination to serve Ireland in her darkest hour, and he was proud to be able to say that he had earned an Old I.R.A. medal—a memento of a just cause.

Apart from his highly successful career as a Cinema Manager, the deceased was a talented and noteworthy water colour artist. The most discerning judges had a high opinion of his skill as an artist.

The funeral took place to-day from St. Michael's Church to Mount St. Lawrence Cemetery, the attendance being representative of all classes, and testifying to the high esteem in which he was held. Among those present from Odeon (Ireland) and Irish Cinemas were: Mr. C. M. Conroy, Assistant Manager; Mr. C. M. Conroy, Assistant General Manager; Mr. P. F. Brady, Assistant Secretary; Mr. T. G. English, Assistant Manager, Metropole Cinema, Dublin, and Acting Manager, Savoy, Limerick.

Deep sympathy is extended to his widow and relatives.
