Heat Merchants celebrating 30 years business in Limerick

Heating and plumbing specialist launch new showroom

IT'S now 30 years since Heat Merchants opened their doors at their successful Roxboro branch on Childers. In that time, they have seen products come and go, demand has changed as the years have passed, and technologies in the business have changed dramatically.

One thing has remained a constant though; Heat Merchants will always be associated with high quality services, products and value.

The heating and plumbing specialists launch their latest new-look showroom, which features stylish sanitary ware, energy efficient stoves and all the latest in renewable energy technologies.

Speaking about their landmark birthday, branch manager Joe Power said: "I would like to sincerely thank all our valued and loyal customers for their business over the past number of years. It is because of their continued support that we have been in business for 30 years in Roxboro. We look forward to continuing to service Limerick with heating, plumbing and renewable energy products and would like to ask anyone who is considering a home improvement project to pop in to see how we can help. Whether it is for boiler upgrades or solar panels, we have a range of products and lots of advice for both the trade and public."

Heat Merchants were amongst the first to start bringing the renewable energy technologies to market starting, a process which began with the introduction of solar panels as far back as 2002.

Since then, the company has greatly expanded their range of products and have fine tuned their products and suppliers over time. This has enabled Heat Merchants to offer their customer a product which is second to none, of high quality, competitively priced, produced by some of the top names in the industry that will ensure massive savings on heating and hot water bills.

Heat Merchants brander flat plate solar panels have proved to be extremely popular, a fact which is no surprise considering their exclusive top European manufacturer. Worcester Bosch, Baxi and Absol also supply solar panels to Heat Merchants, and their impressive pedigree ensures that quality products are a given.

Heat Merchants' underfloor heating is manufactured by Rehau - one of the worlds leading pipe manufacturers. This top quality German system, which boasts BBA approval, the gold medal in pipe manufacturing, is a hallmark of the quality the company boasts itself upon.

As well as placing an importance of secure home insulation, Heat Merchants are also keen to remind the public about the importance of quality ventilation, a service they are quite familiar with.

Heat Merchants offer a top quality Finnish/German heat recovery ventilation system, manufactured by specialists in low energy heat recovery systems.

For people who want clean air but do not require heat recovery, Heat Merchants offer a demand controlled ventilation system manufactured in France by the inventor of this now world wide technology, Aereco.

Highly regarded companies such as Calorex, Kingspan Aeromax and Worcester Bosch manufacture both ground source and air source heat-pumps, which have been tried and tested to work in our climatic conditions.

Heat Merchants main objective is to provide the heating and plumbing industry with a dedicated supply service offering quality products at competitive prices. Today, the company is sourcing products from all over the world and dealing with the largest manufacturers of boilers, PVC piping, and sanitary ware.

The Roxboro branch of Heat Merchants, which is proud to have been serving the people of Limerick for 30 years remain as proud as ever call themselves the number one supplier of heating and plumbing services to their loyal and valued customers. Joe Power is the Branch Manager in Roxboro and together with his staff of Tom Fogarty, who is with the company since it opened its doors in 1980, Sharon Hegarty, John Moloney, Dave Purcell and Jim Punch who all have a wealth of knowledge and experience in the trade.

The team at Roxboro hope to continue to provide the excellent service which has been synonymous with Heat Merchants for the past thirty years. The Roxboro branch services all of Limerick City and County plus County Clare and even into North Cork. The aim has always been to bring to the trade the latest products, technology and information that the Irish market requires and to ensure that our customers are kept fully updated with any market changes and regulations that are happening in the trade.
