

The Old Limerick Journal

Clune's shop, William Street, c. 1910.

I found this work very interesting, for I met all kinds and conditions of men and women, always in trouble but bearing their misfortunes in many different ways. My own family had been poor but, disadvantages in the situation and not least among these was my being used as a porter twice every week. Mr. Duffy travelled by train to his branches outside Limerick and I had to carry the two bags
