will also include a swimming

Another interesting f

Three stained-glass windows were smashed, books were torn and thrown all over the floor, the leather covering of chairs was badly slashed and the Communion rails cut in several places.

In an interview with Venerable Archdeacon Nash, St.
John's, to-day he stated that the intruders left the church in a "most sacrilegious state." The damage done was very considerable but at the time he was not in a position to say the exact amount. The three stained-glass windows were very old and really valuable and the damage to them was serious.

MYSTERY

Archdeacon Nash stated that he was having the full damage assessed to-day. It is interesting to note that St. John's is the place of worship of Clr. Mrs.
Frances Condell, Mayor of Limerick.

Mystery surrounds the actual time of the sacrilege. It is known that the church had not been interfered with on Sunday last.

Yesterday, a lady who was placing some flowers on a grave noticed the damage and reported it to Archdeacon Nash. As a result, the Gardaí were called in and there is considerable activity in an effort to bring the culprits to Justice.

Archdeacon Nash told our reporter this morning that a woman living in the vicinity stated that she had heard some banging in the region of the church during the week and this is being investigated.
