McEvoy likely to play

Andy McEvoy is virtually certain to play for Limerick against Waterford at the Markets Field on Sunday. Full-back Denis Lymer is a doubtful starter because of an ankle injury but all other players are fit to play.

Limerick disappointed when losing to Athlone last Sunday and big improvement is needed if Waterford are to be beaten for the second time this season. Al Finucane continues to act as Limerick's caretaker-Manager and each morning he goes through a rigorous training session with the full-time professionals who have been signed by the club. Colin Mather and Ken Johnson, Lymer, too, is a full-time professional but is, of course, only on a month's trial and will have to play better in future games than he did against Athlone if he is to be offered terms for the season.

Efforts are still being made to sign Billy Sinclair; negotiations are also continuing to secure Jerry Coyne who did so well in the pre-season friendlies while it is still hoped to sign a player-coach in the coming weeks.

Wash strikes - and Wembley maintain unbeaten run

WEMBLEY ROVERS, 4; JANESBORO, 0
BY "HOTSPUR"

WEMBLEY ROVERS have found a new champion. His name: Johnny Walsh, the sprightly young inside-forward whose thirst for work is matched only by his hunger for goals. Yesterday evening, at Cals Park, the Garryowen youth was given a standing ovation after scoring four brilliant goals in the space of eleven minutes.

They left Janesboro without a cause to fight. Tony Murphy's young coats had more than held their own for 50 minutes, but they became thoroughly despon-

Dundon off his line and calmly lofted the ball over the keeper's head.

Higgins was brought down in the penalty area and Walsh made it 3-0 from the resultant spot kick. And with three minutes remaining for play the inside forward struck again following good work by McGinley. Yes, indeed, this was championship winning stuff from Wembley.

John Walsh, who hit all Wembley's four goals in their win over 'Boro dent and demoralised when Walsh fired a screamer past a helpless Dundon.

Thus, Wembley went through their entire programme without dropping even a single point. But they will have to wait another ten days or so before knowing if the League Championship is theirs.

Schoolboy Council met on Monday and deprived them of their points against Tower Rovers because of what they claimed was an irregularity in the filling in of the referee's card. Tower fell 3-1 to the table-toppers last week. Council have instructed that the game be replayed, but the Wembley club have appealed their case to the F.A.I.

Walsh, with his ability to find space and pace when it matters most, has emerged this year as a player who seems destined for a bright future. His performance last evening was a shrewd revelation. But if Walsh provided the KO it was wingers Eamonn McGinley and John Graham who did the softening up. McGinley travelled all the way from County Louth to assist the blue-and-whites, and teased and tormented the 'Boro defence with a series of darting runs along the left wing. 12-year-old John Graham was equally as effective on the opposite flank, and with Jim Whelan and O'Neill starring on the inside, the losers' defence was taxed to the limit.

TRAFFIC
But it wasn't all one way traffic by any means. Indeed, 'Boro had their opponents worried in the opening half. Desmond Kennedy, Francis Lee and Eugene Casey saw to it that keeper Gordon Butler had plenty to do, and the Wembley custodian proved his worth with two well timed saves from McCarthy and Kennedy.

There was much to admire in Wembley's defensive play. The lanky Eamonn Madden was in capital form at centre half and had capable lieutenants in Patrick Collins and Ray Hardaker.

Had Janesboro used their wingers to more advantage they might have fared much better. McCarthy and Kennedy looked good when in possession, but they saw only a limited supply of the ball.

WORRIED
Wembley had reason to feel worried at half time when 'Boro held them scoreless. It was still touch and go up to the 50th minute. John Walsh inspired his colleagues with a brilliantly conceived goal from 30 yards range. His second effort was even better. Johnny juggled his way past three defenders, spotted

Southill angry

Southill A.P.C. are angry because of the failure to pay their arrears for the 1972/73 season.

The club's manager, Mr. James Kirwin, said last evening that he was "deprived of cash" because of the failure to pay arrears. The Council refused to accept a week earlier. Southill A.P.C. are angry because of the failure to pay their arrears for the 1972/73 season.
