

Limerick at large: the remarkable pictures rediscovered after decades

■ Over the next four pages we present a host of great photographs of local people out and about and captured by the Leader

Different times: the lady at the centre of the picture appears to have spotted the Leader photographer on a bustling William Street pictured in 1974. This is one of the 125 images in the From Limerick with Love exhibition which opens at Shannon Airport next Tuesday, before moving to the city in September

Once oar unto the breach: An atmospheric photograph of fishermen on The River Shannon at Clancy Strand ready their equipment back in 1972
