Recollections of Early Days of The Volunteers in Limerick

(Extract from the Limerick Leader, May 25, 1934)

By A. J. O’Halloran

I cannot say when the J.F.C. was formed, but I believe it was in the 1920s. The J.F.C. was a group of men who formed a company to defend their country. They were a group of men who were proud of their country and were willing to fight for it. The J.F.C. was not a political party, but it was a group of men who were willing to fight for their country. The J.F.C. was not a group of men who were willing to fight for their country, but it was a group of men who were willing to fight for their country. The J.F.C. was a group of men who were willing to fight for their country.
