

Wide

F.N.

BER 22

6.50—Hymns from Home/Be Still

7.00—News, World.

7.05—Music in the Air.

8.00—News, World.

8.05—Connotation.

8.30—Pendleton Story.

9.00—World News.

9.05—On the Scene.

9.30—American Music Hall

10.00—The World at 10.00.

10.30—To-night Show.

11.00—News and Sports.

11.10—Sports Listening Post.

11.15—John Doremus Show.

12.00—Headlines—Marketa.

12.05—Date with Chris.

1.00—News, World.

1.05—Sign Off.

6.00—News world.

6.05—Morning Request Show.

6.30—News Headlines.

6.33—Morning Request Show.

7.00—The World at 7.00.

7.30—Morning Request Show.

8.00—News, World.

8.05—America's Pop Music.

8.30—Don McNeill.

9.00—News, World.

9.05—Take Ten.

9.15—Tempo (Participating).

10.00—News, World.

10.05—All That Jazz.

10.30—Ira Cook.

11.00—News, World.

11.05—Jim Pewter Show.

11.30—Noon Request Show.

12.00—News and Sports.

12.15—Noon Request Show.

1.00—News, World.

1.05—Art Linkletter.

1.15—Adventures in Good Music.

2.00—News, World.

2.05—Small World.

3.00—News, World.

3.05—Bill Stewart Show.

4.00—News, World.

4.05—The 4.05 to Nashville.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24

5.00—News, World.

5.05—Afternoon Request Show.

6.00—The World at 6.00.

6.30—Sports Journal.

6.45—Local Sports.

6.50—Hymns from Home/Be Still.

7.00—News, World.

7.05—Music in the Air.

8.00—News, World.

8.05—Frontier Gentlemen.

8.30—Jasin Street Jazz.

9.00—News, World.

DEATH OF HEROINE OF OF WAR OF INDEPENDENCE

-Mai Clair (nee Moloney) of Lackelly

It was with the deepest regret, and the renewal of many old memories, that the news was received in the East Limerick Brigade I.R.A. area recently of the death in Manchester, England, of Mrs. Mai Clair (nee Moloney), formerly of Lackelly, Knocklong. There is no doubt but that Mai Moloney was one of the outstanding heroines in the East Limerick and South Tipperary areas during the fight for freedom—no more than there is any doubt that the women of that part of Ireland were second to none in that testing time, when sacrifice and heroism of a high order were called for.

It was at the home of Mai, and her equally patriotic brother Danny, at Lackelly, that Dan Breen, Sean Treacy and Seamus Robinson made the final arrangements with the men of the Galtee Battalion for the rescue of Sean Hogan at Knocklong Station in May, 1919. And it was Mai who was sent to Thurles to ascertain on which train Sean Hogan and his captors would be travelling to Cork prison. She duly wired the vital information which resulted in the successful rescue, a daring and courageous deed that fired the souls of Ireland's fighting men and set the ballad singers singing—

From Dingle Bay to Garryowen,

The fame will echo long
Of the rescue of Sean Hogan
At the station of Knocklong.

During the War of Independence, Mai nursed and fed the wounded I.R.A., and was at hand at every barrack attack and ambush in the East Limerick Brigade area. Her brother, Danny, was a member of the famous East Limerick Flying Column of the I.R.A., the first such column in Ireland.

Perhaps Mai's greatest and most courageous exploit was the rescue of wounded and dead I.R.A. men from under the very noses of the British forces at the Lackelly ambush in May, 1921. Michael Collins is known to have said that "East Limerick holds the flower of Irish womanhood"; and in his book, B'Fhiú an Braon Fola, Séamus Ó Maoileoin gave it as his opinion that in the War of Independence the women of East Limerick were the best in Ireland. And, it might be added, none were better than Mai Moloney. If necessary, Mai would—and, in fact, did—use a gun. As a reprisal for the patriotic activities of the Moloney family, the British and Tans burned down their home at Lackelly. During the Civil War the Moloneys took the Republican side, and Mai was interned throughout all that tragic period.

She is survived by her husband, James, and her son, James Christopher.

Go dtuga Dia suaimhneas sioraí dá hanam cróga!

-S. O. M.

Excellent Wages and Working Conditions.

Apply

The Person in Charge.

EXPERIENCED OPERATORS REQUIRED

Dominick Street, Limerick

(21-23-25-27c)