

of the voters object.
6th day of January

BOTTON presented a petition to the Grand Jury of the Common, assembled at Midsummer, 1790, stating the evils arising from the abuse of spirituous liquors, the facilitating spirit licenses, and bad quality liquors.

Moved, That the said petition do lie on table for the perusal of the Members.
A member was sworn in, and took his seat.
Moved, on the motion of Mr. Forbes, That house be called over on Monday evening, Moved, that Mr. Speaker do write circulars to the several members, requiring attendance on the business of the house on said day.

The CHAN. of the EXCHEQ. moved, that house will on Monday next take into consideration his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant's speech to both Houses of Parliament.—Agreed Moved, that an humble address be presented to his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, that he will be pleased to give directions to the post offices to lay before this house, the public accounts of the nation, and the several establishments, civil and military.

Moved, that an humble address be presented to his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, that he will be pleased to give directions to the proper officials to lay before this house, a state of the establishments and other charges of government, from the beginning of March 1790, ending the 25th of March 1790, the 1st of October following, together with payments made to or by the Vice Treasurer during the said times, and the arrear remaining unsatisfied; together with the state of revenue, and the charges of management after deductions, from the 25th of March to the 29th of September following;

Moved, that the said Addresses be presented to his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant by such Members of this House as are of his Majesty's most honourable Privy Council.

The Right Hon. Mr. Secretary Hobart informed the House, that their addresses for laying before the House the public accounts of the nation, and the several establishments, civil and military, had been presented to his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, and that his Excellency had given directions accordingly.

The Right Hon. Mr. Clements, by order of his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, presented to the House, pursuant to their address to his Excellency,

An abstract of receipts and payments in the treasury in one year, from Lady-day 1789, to Lady-day 1790.

Payments made in the treasury office pursuant to acts of Parliaments, in one year, to Lady-day 1790; with the arrear remaining un-discharged on the said day. To which are added the payments made on account of the charges against the loan fund, and of the principal of treasury bills.

Payments made in the treasury office pursuant to his Majesty's letters, in one year, to Lady-day 1790; together with the arrear remaining undischarged.

Also, payments made in the treasury office under the head of military contingencies, in one year, from lady-day 1789, to lady-day 1790.

And also, payments made in the treasury office under the head of concordatum, in one year, from lady-day 1789, to lady-day 1790.

Ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Burgh, Accountant-general, by order

His desire was that the plans of reform might be suggested, that they might be fairly discussed, and that the House should either agree in their adoption, or give reason why they are impracticable—for no one could be supposed unfriendly to a reform in this particular, if it were in any degree practicable.

Mr. GRATTAN acknowledged that what had just fallen from the Right Hon. Gentleman was of great importance to Ireland: with the example of the sister country before us, we ought not to despair of being able to accomplish a salutary reform.

The founders in this city, and the importers of pig and bar iron, have succeeded in opposing a duty proposed of ten shillings and six pence per ton on those articles if of gt. from Britain, the Chief Commissioners having given up the point agreeable to the opinion of the Crown Lawyers, and other eminent Counsel. This establishes the practise of admitting these raw materials free of duty.

His Majesty's Royal letter is received granting the dignity of a Baron of this kingdom to the Right Hon. Alleyne Fitz Herbert, and the heirs male of his body lawfully begotten, by the name stile and title of Baron St. Helens, and letters patent are preparing accordingly.
