of January.

New York General Advertiser of the 11th We learn from the Captain of the sloop which arrived last night, in twenty-one at the navigation of the Bite of Leogane y dangerous. The Negroes capture all at they fall in with—they give no quarter, every soul to death. Three American ave been taken by them, and the crews
d. A passage boat from Leogane to Sa. with 44 persons on board, was taken, and ul murdered, the women they put to death umstances of barbarity too shocking to be ed. The day after this transaction took ne boat was captured by the boats of a frigate, after a desperate resistance. She nned by 20 negroes, 17 of whom were n the action. The surviving three were to town, and exposed to the rage of the e, who kicked, stoned, and trampled them . Even women, to gratify their revenge murder of their sex, stamped on their ll they expired.

The war between the French and the Brigands ed to be very bloody. They gave no quarther side. The Negroes were numerous, ly armed. During a battle, those in the id with their arms folded, and stepped for-supply the places of those who fall in front. quent actions had taken place on the plains rt Republican, in which the French were il, but the town was closely besieged at the the Selima's failing, and the Brigands ed depredations under the very walls. No a 200 plantations have been destroyed in ighbourhood. Three of the Negro encamp-vere plainly to be seen from the shipping in

TO MISS M. —

Who kindly persevered to gratify her friends by playing on her Harp, notwithstanding the Springs had lacerated her Fingers.

Dear interesting girl!—forbear—Your little fingers thus to tear;
To charm our souls with your enchanting lyre;
If pleasing us, you suffer pain;
Sweet Lady! play not thus again, Lest like the Swan in music you expire. I. D. L.
