Cork Morning Intelligencer.

A NEW JOURNAL of this name, will be published at NO. 6, CASTLE-STREET, in this City, on TUESDAY Morning, the 19th inst. and on the Mornings of THURSDAY and SATURDAY following, and on those mornings respectively after; and will be dispatched to the Country by Messengers, and the earliest Public Conveyances.

The design of this paper is to add another auxiliary to the cause of Ireland; to reconcile her people, advance her morals, promote her happiness, assert her rights and maintain her honour; while at the same time the great collateral duty will not be overlooked, of enforcing and illustrating the value of those great precepts of civil liberty to which the British Constitution gives life and operation.

A pure and impartial spirit will select the subjects for the NEW JOURNAL, and animate those principles which it will most steadfastly support: and the Proprietors desire to receive no favour from the honorable and efficient patronage of the IRISH PUBLIC, which they shall not have earned by their fidelity to their engagements.

THE CORK MORNING INTELLIGENCER aims at obtaining news before the usual and stated times in which it might otherwise reach this City; and though the arrangement for this purpose must be independent on many things not directly subject to the controul of its Conductors, still they have reason, in this instance, to entertain sanguine hopes of success.

A fair and liberal cast of Political speculation, a considerable share of Commercial information and an interesting Miscellany of such topics as the passing events afford, will be carefully prepared for the public.

THE INTELLIGENCER will not only be a desirable companion at the breakfast table in town, but in many instances, in the country. It will be forwarded to various parts of the Counties of Cork, Kerry, Limerick, Tipperary, Waterford &c. by the early Coaches on mornings of its publication; and it will also communicate to Country Subscribers, in its SECOND EDITIONS, the substance of any important news that may arrive in the day of publication too late to be received into its first impression.

To the long list of Subscribers of rank, fortune, and independence, in this city and extensive and affluent county, that have already stepped forward to support the INTELLIGENCER, the Proprietors return their grateful
