

as President and Governor, and Sir J. mas Oakes, and J. H. Cassamajor, Esqrs. of the said Presidency. Mr. Oakes to chair "on the vacancy thereof, in any he said Sir. G. H. Barlow." The sense f Directors on the late disturbances was the Indian army, in a public order, on the r. On the 9th October Lieut. General mmander in chief in India, embarked on ia, for Calcutta.

ot less than one hundred and fifty sail of troops, for the Tagus, wind-bound in of B...

SATURDAY, MARCH 9.

ived Lisbon papers to the 17th ult. but present nothing of interest with respect Details of petty skirmishes in Spain con-Portuguese papers.

urning the Chancellor of the Exchequer ication to the governor and deputy-go-ank of England, for the information hich was afterwards read by Mr. Hase of the Stock Exchange, on the folthe intention of Mr. Perceval to sub-nt, early in next week, a proposition equer Bills, dated between the first of the 16th day of March, 1811, both in-ain amount, not exceeding in the whole VE MILLIONS—the terms as follows: ed pounds principal money of Bills so-ubscriber is to receive one hundred fourteen shillings in Navy 5 per cent. terest thereon to commence from the ry last; and the interest on the Exche-ebed to be funded, is intended to be paid April next inclusive. In the event of 01 TWELVE MILLIONS in Exchequer scribed, Mr. Perceval engages not to r addition to the 5 per cent. funds in n of Parliament. On the contrary, r Bills to the full amount be not sub-erves to himself the power of creat-unities to the amount of such deficien- be raised for the service of the present ing letters were received from the he date of Sunday last. By these we nt fact, that notwithstanding the con- of Trade in favour of the Fries- and other vessels, the embargo had not French ports. The Exchange at Pa- action, or equal to 30 per cent. below is said, received intelligence yester- pt was lately made upon the life of which he had a very narrow escape. so; but, considering the school in is been educated, we cannot wholly sion that this assassinating plot has me political purpose—either that of al sympathy of the Swedes in his fa- a pretext for surrounding him with which will render any opposition to

OF PORTUGAL.

NINTH CORPS.

the 9th corps of the army in Portu- ed General Silveira to abandon his and Francosa, he thought to have urn, and intercept a fresh the com- army; but Claparede's divisions had uard Francosa and to observe his ie 30th December he presented him- de, which he found occupied by our ed him so vigorously that he was precipitately, leaving many killed, a great number of prisoners. On Claparede having made his disposi- attack Silveira; he learnt that the position on the heights of Sarzeda. ced a column to turn the left of the b he advanced rapidly upon the expecting this manœuvre, imme- e 11th, he was pursued upon Villa osted himself on the left bank of ed very determined, to make a ek, it was impossible for Silveira Claparede arrived on the 13th at their route, he collected on the

From our Correspondent in London.
Saturday, March 9, seven P. M.

PORTUGAL.

By a sloop of war which has arrived from Lisbon we have various letters with acceptable intelligence but the dates are not so recent as those obtained by the Speculation and some other channels.—The following is from a young officer, and is four days later than the time of the last dispatches from Lord Wellington.

Barrus, Feb. 13.

"We have taken the ground left by the Spanish troops, which are gone from towards Elves to oppose the enemy on the frontiers. Our distance from Abrantes, is only about one league and a half, and we frequently converse with the French officers on the opposite bank of the river. That place is garrisoned by Portuguese troops, which will I believe bravely defend it.—We are all here in great health and well supplied, and to raise our spirits, only want a brush with the enemy.—We now discover a large column moving. We were at 12 o'clock last night in full expectation of an attempt of the French to cross the river, from the preparations we had observed. If I am not laid asleep by a French pill, I shall soon give you an account of some important operations, and I hope signal successes."

Another letter, of the 6th of last month, gives us the satisfactory intelligence, that by incessant labour and the natural advantages of the situation, the fortifications on the south side of the Tagus towards St. Ulus, are now nearly as strong as those on the north, and a conjecture is hazarded that Lord Wellington will commence offensive operations without delay.

THE KING.

The following are the bulletins received since our last:

"Windsor-castle, March 8.

"His Majesty continues in the same state in which he was yesterday."

"Windsor-castle, March 9.

"His Majesty has made considerable progress in his recovery, and is going on favourably."

Gen. Montresor, and a number of respectable gentlemen, have promised to attend as collectors at the Charity Sermon to be preached by the Rev. Mr. Pat. Hogan, at St. Michael's chapel, on Sunday next; and the celebrated Mr. Spray from Dublin, has kindly offered to assist with his Vocal Powers, in addition to the gentlemen who are to perform on that day.

Lord Glatworth and Family, will arrive at his father's, the Earl of Limerick's house, Newtown Pery, in this city, on to morrow.

Catholic Deputation to the Prince Regent.

Names of the Noblemen and Gentlemen appointed by the Aggregate Meeting to present the Address to his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

The Earls of Shrewbury, Fingal, and Kenmare.
The Viscounts Gormanstown, Netterville, and Southwell.

The Lords Trembleton and French.
Sir Thomas Edmond, Edward Bellew, Hugh O'Reilly
Thomas Burke, and Francis G oold, Barts.

Major Gen. O'Farrell.
Colonel Burke.

Messrs. G. Bryan, R. M'Donnel, D. O'Connel, J. Keogh, Owen O'Connor, Mr. Donellan, Edward Corbally, T. Wynne, J. Burk, Wm. Coppinger, Am. J. Roche, Edw. Murphy D. W. O'Reilly, Geo. Brown, E. Taaffe, D. Caulfield Esquires.

ENNIS, MARCH 13.

On Monday evening the Hon. Judge Day, one of the Lords Justices of Assize for the Munster circuit, arrived here, and shortly after opened his commission. On the next morning at nine o'clock his Lordship appeared in court, when the following most respectable Grand Jury were sworn in:—

Lord James O'Bryen, Foreman; Sir Edw. O'Brien, M. P.; Col. A Fitz-Gerald, M. P.; Right Hon. Wm. Fitz-Gerald, M. P.; Col. M'Namara, Wm. Westby, Francis M'Namara, Doolen; Thomas Arthur, John Mac Donnell, Wm. M'Namara, Samuel Spaight, Andrew Finucane, John O'Callaghan, Robert Westropp, Bindon Scott, Andrew Stackpoole, Thomas Browne, Richard Creagh, Poole Hickman, Wm. Casey, Mich. Creagh, Laurentina; Nicholas Comyn, and Daniel O'Connel, Esqrs.

His Lordship as usual addressed the Jury with much eloquence and force. He dwelt with peculiar satisfaction on the tranquil and orderly state of our society; and, drawing a striking contrast between the very, for horse-stealing—C. O'Neil, T. Fahy, and John Heath, for maiming, with other charges.

Letters were on Thursday received from Oporto of the 18th ult. They mention the death of that galliant Officer, Colonel Miller. He died on the right bank of the Douro, at some distance from Oporto.—The immediate cause of this death was not known; but the excessive hardships and anxiety which he had suffered for many months are supposed to have contributed in a great degree towards it. His remains were conveyed to Oporto.

Monday last the cause of Lord Egremont, against Hans Hamilton, and Benedict Hamilton, Esqrs. was decided by the right hon. the Lord Chancellor, after an investigation which occupied three days, in favour of the Defendant with costs. By this decision, the Hamilton family are confirmed in the possession of their estates in the county of Carlow and Queen's county, after a litigation of nearly a century.

The following diabolical and mysterious act of atrocity is of so shocking a nature, that we would shrink from giving it publicity, if we had not the most unquestionable authority for its veracity:—Wednesday morning last, near Ballymore Eustace, the body of a poor peasant, of the name of Stephen Reynolds, was discovered outside his cabin door, mangled in a most shocking manner. It appeared that his skull had been fractured, his eyes forced from their sockets, his throat cut, and five dreadful wounds had been inflicted on various parts of his body. The murder of his wife had been also accomplished in the same spirit of savage wantonness.—Her throat had been cut across, and a wound appeared upon her breast so deep that her lungs were visible—and other wounds were also inflicted on different parts. An unfortunate Beggarman, who on this dreadful night been admitted to share the protection of this ill-fated roof, shared also in its calamity: he was found in a similar situation with his host, his throat being cut across, and several stabs had been made upon his body. The only survivor was a little girl, about nine years old, the daughter of the owner of the cabin. We trust that her life has been providentially preserved for the purpose of her being the instrument of bringing the sanguinary villains, guilty of such infernal deeds, to the punishment they deserve.—We understand, that a man principally upon her evidence, has been apprehended, and is now in Kilmainham gaol.—Saunders's News Letter.

From the length of the Debates in the House of Commons on the Irish Catholic Committee, which we have given in full in this day's Gazette, we are obliged to omit several Advertisements and other articles.

BIRTH.

At the Manor, on Saturday morning, the Lady of Arthur Stock, Esq. son of the Bishop of Waterford, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

A few days ago in the parish church of Liselton, Thomas Ledmon, of Ballyhorgan, Esq. to Frances, second daughter of Anthony Samuel Raymond, of Ballyloughran, county Kerry, Esq.

On Monday morning last, at Passage church, Waterford, Patrick M'Dougall, Esq. of that city, to Miss Eliza Clifford, daughter of the late Miller Clifford, Esq.

DEATHS.

On Monday evening last, in Mill-street, Ennis, Mr. Taylor, hearth-money collector of that district.

Suddenly, in Galway, on Saturday last, Mrs. M'Nevin, wife of D. M'Nevin, Esq. Loughrea.

On Saturday last, in Peter's-street, Cork, Mr. Tim Sugrue, aged 66 years.

LIMERICK MARKET PRICES.

	£.	D.	to	£.	D.
Wheat,	1	10	to	2	2
Barley,	1	-	to	1	-6
Oats,	0	8½	to	-	9½
Potatoes,	-	3	to	-	3½
Pork,	32	-	to	-	-
Flour, 2d,	27	-	to	29	-
— 3d,	23	9	to	25	-
— 4th,	14	-	to	16	-
Oatmeal,	14	-	to	14	6
Rapeseed,	36	-	to	40	-

per stone per cwt. per bl.

PRICE OF BUTTER.

Tubs	114s	110s.	102s.	92s.
Firkins	114s.	110s.	102s.	92s.

THIRD NIGHT—Friday Evening.

ASSEMBLY-ROOMS, LIMERICK.
RECITATION AND VOCAL MUSIC.