Future historians will certainly analyse much from this incident.

The Earl of Mansfield, with pleasure we announce it,—enjoys as perfect a state of health at this time, as he has ever done during the course of a long and honourable life.

DUBLIN, JUNE 6.

The Marquis of Buckingham, we are cre- dibly informed, on Wednesday passed the com- pliment congratulatory to Mr. Fitzgibbon, on the moral certainty of his elevation to the Woolstack.

It is the general opinion, that though his Majesty's PAT for appointing a Chancellor to this kingdom, will arrive here in the course of next week, the making out of the Patent, and other formalities, will be delayed until the end of Trinity Term, which begins on Monday next, in order to put an end to, as much as possible, the business depending in Chancery.

A gentleman in this city, who moves very conspicuously in the political hemisphere, has within these few days laid a wager of 500 gui- neas, that Mr. Fitzgibbon will be the person appointed Chancellor of this kingdom.

We have authority to say that no changes have yet taken place in the Barrack Board.

The Dublin Packet, which, upwards of 12 months ago, sailed from Philadelphia for this port, has been a missing ship, it was generally thought that she had foundered at sea;— Thursday morning, however, it is said, she was captured on her passage by the Moors, and brought into Saltee, and the crew imme- diately sent into slavery, where every commu- nication was precluded:—At length three of the sailors, (who are those who brought the account) having escaped to the sea side, seized a boat, and got safe to the coast of Spain, from which they are just arrived.

The Dublin Packet was the property of Messrs. Leckey and Wilson, of this city, and was remarked as one of the best sailers that ever left Dublin harbour. She has, more than once, performed her voyage from Philadelphia to Dublin, in twenty-one days.

The insulting depredations continually com- mitted on the liberties and properties of all nations, in plundering their ships, and carrying their subjects into slavery, is a taunting re- proach to the political tenacity of the Christian powers of Europe, who through a jealousy of each other, suffer continual hostilities from this nation of Pirates, without crushing them at once.

Wednesday examinations began in Trinity College for the fellowship vacant by the resig- nation of Dr. Day, who left the College for the united livings of Ormagh and Killileagh. The number of candidates that appeared were six —viz Mr. Millar, Mr. Usher, Mr. Pasley, Mr. Phibbs, Mr. Stopford, and Mr. Allen.— The examination will not terminate till Satur- day evening, and the successful candidate will be declared on Monday.

The Lords Commissioners of the Great Seal of this Kingdom, have been pleased to appoint John Westropp, of Rockfield, in the County of Limerick, Esq; a Justice of the Peace for said County.

Thursday being the anniversary of his Ma- jesty's birth day, it was observed here with every demonstration of joy. The morning was ushered in with the ringing of bells, the ships displayed their colours, at one o'clock the 15 h regiment of foot, under the command of Col. Myers, marched to Newtown-Pery, where they fired three volleys, between each of which was a salute from the two field pieces of the Royal Artillery attached to this Garrison;—and at night the Barrack was grandly illuminated.

Last Wednesday evening, a Woman of the name of Ryan, was found murdered in a field between Kildimo and Curragh bridge, she had a stab on each side of her throat, which was quite black—this horrid fact is believed to be perpetrated on Sunday night or Monday morn- ing, by her husband John Ryan, who for some time cohabited with another woman;—dilig- ent search is making after him by the neigh- bouring Gentlemen.

A CAUTION—Last Friday Mr. O'Brien, High Constable, apprehended John Ryan, a notorious Coiner and Swindler; he was com- mitted to the City Gaol by that active Magis- trate, Alderman Widenham,—being charged with lately defrauding some poor people in this City and County, to the amount of one hundred Guineas;—his practice has been to seduce the unwary to give him a number of real Guineas, and he would double them with Counterfeits that should bear the nicest inspection; he made the person turn his back to him while he heated a good Guinea and put it in a Cup, wherein wa- a solution of quicksilver which made it white, then shewed it in that state to the Gull, in whose presence it was brushed off with aqua- fortis, then sent to be weighed and disposed of.
