To the Editor of the Limerick Chronicle.
Wexford, 4th June.

Sir—I beg you will excuse me if I trespass on your attention for a moment to state, that a person representing himself to be a Mr. Parker, of the County Kerry and possessing considerable estates in the County Cor has been wandering through this County for the last few weeks, evidently labouring under aberration of intellect. He states that on leaving his home he rode a valuable horse, which he has since abandoned on a road in the County Wicklow. That he had a valuable gold repeater with gold chain and seals, all of which he bartered for little tea; and that his father once filled a high office in the County Kerry. He remains at present under the protection of Mr. Kelly, C.C.P. in this County, who informs me that he speaks with a strong Munster accent and is apparently near forty years of age.—Being acquainted with Kerry, and having never heard of such a person in that county, I write in the hope that you will make some allusion to the circumstance in your columns whereby a clue may be afforded that will lead to his restoration to his friends.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
ED. CHURCH, Inspector of Fisheries

the propriety of meeting forthwith, and sending forward a constitutional remonstrance to Parliament against the severe pecuniary assessments upon this Country, which are now in the contemplation of Government. Those imposts will seriously affect not the mercantile and trading part of the community only, but also the agricultural interests of Ireland, so that in fact no fair opportunity should be omitted of discountenancing the proposed taxes, and arresting their progress in every stage. A County Meeting has already recorded its deliberate conviction of their impolicy. District meetings will impart greater strength to that expression of public feeling. The Visitation of the Clergy of Cashel will be held by the Archbishop, on Thursday the 17th inst. at Castle. The Lord Bishop of Killaloe visited the Parish of Mountshannon, County Galway, in that Diocese, last week, and finding the necessity of enlarging the Church there, his Lordship has taken the necessary measures to accomplish so desirable a work.

Monday evening, a fine little boy about six years of age, fell into the river on the North Strand, and was drowned before the accident attracted the notice of any observer. This fatality is ascribed to the neglected state of the parapet wall which the tide has levelled in many places. The body was found soon after by a fisherman.

Mary M'Namara, the young woman whose head was fractured by a stone in the riot near Baal's Bridge last Sunday week, died since of the wound in the County Infirmary. This young female was innocently passing at the moment when a furious horde of both sexes were pelting each other with those deadly missiles always employed by vulgar and disorderly persons. She received a blow of a large stone on the head, and fell senseless to the ground. The combatants dispersed soon after, and death followed the fracture. The Mayor held an inquest on the body, but tho' it is believed the homicide is known to several, yet no evidence could be procured to implicate the guilty. How criminal in those who are cognisant of the outrage, and how disgraceful to reflect, that human life may be sacrificed in the streets of Limerick on the Sabbath, in the presence of many, yet that the agent of violent death stalks away with impunity.

The Office of Messrs. Roy & Co. Brewers, at John's-Gate, was robbed on Sunday night of several rolls of copper mosey. A man who had been discharged from the concern a week before, is in custody on suspicion of having effected the robbery.

The mutilated body of an infant was found on Monday last floating in the river near the fields at Court-brack. An inquest was held by the Mayor on Tuesday.

Catherine Welsh, a sixth of the convicts who broke from the City Gaol, is taken at Gort, where the Police arrested her on charge of shoplifting. A warrant was being made out for her committal to Galway gaol, when she with much sang froid told them there was no occasion for sending her so far into the heart of Connaught, when she was one of those prisoners who had escaped from Limerick gaol. This unexpected avowal immediately altered her route to this City, and she is now fast locked in her old habitation.

All the convicts in Ennis, amounting to eleven, under sentence of transportation to Botany Bay, arrived here on Monday, under an escort of the 99th Regiment and Police, and yesterday were forwarded to Cork. They are all remarkably well looking healthy men. Six of them were originally sentenced to be hanged.

The fourth transport which sailed from Cork for New South Wales, has on board 120 female convicts, besides the wives and children of 23 free settlers.

Committed to Ennis gaol by F. G. Morony, Esq. James M'Kilgob, attempting to poison his wife.

... Oh that there was such an heart in them, that they would fear me. and keep all my commandments always, that it might be well with them, and with their children for ever!"
Trinity Sunday was the day the citizens of Dublin used to dread from the great latitude that was allowed to the Students of the University. Certainly those Gentlemen used formerly to take great liberties with the public. But for one offence they did, hundreds were committed in their name. They have completely relieved themselves from the stigma of indulging in annual outrage. Sunday as for some time before, all was quiet.

The Right Rev. Dr. Kinsella, admitted several candidates to holy orders and confirmation at Carlow College, last week, having been requested to act in the absence of Dr Doyle, at London.

Colonel Palliser on Wednesday evening, presided at a meeting of the Reformation Society, in the French Church, Great Charles-street.

The Board of Trinity College have given 20l. to the Kerry poor fund.

The inmates who now receive sustenance in the Clonmel Mendicity Institution number 238. and the increase of applicants for relief averages forty every week. The funds are nearly exhausted.

Miss Fitzharris, of Dublin, and Miss Cody, of Kilkenny, have taken the veil in the Presentation Nunnery of Thurles; Miss Dwyer, of Forgestown, has also assumed the veil in the Ursuline Nunnery of Thurles.

On Friday a Temperance Society was established at Clonmel, David Malcolmson, Esq. President, Rev. Mr. Wall, and Rev Mr Flannery, Protestant and Roman Catholic Clergymen, vice Presidents.

The following cases have just been disposed of in the Insolvent Debtors' Court, Dublin, before Commissioners Burrowes and Lloyd:—Petition of David Armour, of Kilmarnock, carpet manufacturer, dismissed; it appears he owed 700l. in Scotland, and ran over to Ireland where he did not owe a farthing, but was arrested in Dublin by one of his creditors who pursued him; he then filed his petition and schedule for the benefit of the Act, but was disappointed;—Henry Cribben, of Armagh, grocer and spirit merchant, was remanded for three months for not discharging a composition of 12s. in the pound he had engaged to pay his creditors;—James F. Willett, of Great Britain-street, jeweller, was remanded six months for premature and fraudulent disclosure of his affairs to one of the trustees to his marriage settlement;—and John Crosier, a gay seducer, like sentence, for non-payment of 35l. damages had against him by the parents of his victim last Spring Assizes.

Monday the 6th Carbineers, the 74th Regiment, and depot of the 19th Regiment composing Cork Garrison marched to Ballincollig, where they had a grand day, in the presence of General Sir G. Bingham.
Captain Smith, of the 32d Regiment, the principal in a fatal duel with Mr. O'Grady, has resigned his commission. A military inquiry into the affair had been held, and Captain Smith is reported to have adopted a course for the purpose of avoiding it.
It is again generally understood in the military circles that regulation will be made respecting the progressive promotion of Lieutenant-Colonels of the Army, to the full Colonels, in the same manner for many years as in the Royal Navy.
The change is very deservedly felt at the tardy promotion of Officers in the Royal Marines. There are now 200 Lieutenants on that establishment after twenty and 20 years service.
