WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14.

Marquis and Marchioness Clanrickarde, Earl Devon, Earl and Countess Glengall, Captain and Lady Mary Ann Vinor, Lindsey Burrell, Esq. and Stafford O'Brien Esq. are enjoying the hospitalities of Mountshannon, the seat of the Earl Clare near this city.

The Earl of Devon left Newcastle on Saturday. Lord and Lady Courtenay will visit their estate, and arrive in Newcastle next November.

C. P. Leslie, Esq. has arrived at Glasslough; he will be returned for the county Monaghan.

On the night of Sunday, the 11th, a threatening notice was posted, warning a man named Fahy, herdsman to Montford Westropp, Esq. Melton, to leave his situation, or if not, to have his coffin ready.

On Saturday, as a man named Fitzgerald was going from Beigh Castle to Castletown, he fell dead in Mr. Mahony's field. An inquest was held on the body, when the Jury returned a verdict of 'Died by the visitation of God.'

On Monday night, a stack of wheat the property of Mrs. Boland, was maliciously set on fire. Constable Corbett having got information, immediately set out from his station at Stonehall, and succeeded in allaying the devouring element, together with saving a good deal of property.

The Jury assembled by the Coroner at CastleConnell, to ascertain how Patrick Morgan, who died suddenly in that village, came by his death, has adjourned for the purpose of analysing the contents of his stomach.

The Poor law Commissioners have reduced the tax on coal paid for the support of the Foundlings in the city of Cork from one shilling to nine pence per ton, and they have called on the Guardians to appoint a professional person to survey and value the property of the Union.

Col. Wyndham, who is at present sojourning at the Abbey, Buns, the seat of Thomas Crowe, Esq. has been for the last few weeks making daily visits to his different estates in Clare—in all of which he has suggested and given encouragement to valuable improvements.

The room was filled to its height, and at 8 o'clock the platform amidst the bly. His voice is a reigner, very distinct system he powerfully on the whole were considered.
