DEATHS.

At the house of Thos. Lloyd, Esq. of Beechmount, near Rathkeale, the Rev. Thomas Brand, son of the late Rev. Geo. Brand, Rector of St. George's, London. He was taken ill while actively engaged in preaching the Gospel of Christ in that neighbourhood, and, after a short illness he departed into that eternity of blessedness to which he had just before been inviting perishing sinners. When informed by the Physician that he had but a short time to live, he was enabled, without doubt or fear, to glory in the cross of Christ. He then lifted up his soul in audible supplication,—and, while engaged in that exercise, his spirit passed from prayer to everlasting praise.
