Mr. Worrall—It is better for you say no more—(laughter.)

Mr. Owen—Well, I believe it is—there are too many against me (renewed laughter.)

The board then adjourned.
* Mr. Owen was the only one at the inquiry who said anything favourable to the Shannon Commissioners, and it was stated in our report "that he considered the works going forward on the Upper Shannon were an improvement."

Petty sessions are in future to be held on every second Friday at Ballina and Newport, county Tipperary.

The left wing of Barrington's Hospital, occupied as a store by the late Monte-de-Piete, has been given up gratuitously to the Governors of the Lying-in-Hospital, by which the rent hitherto paid for their concern in Henry-street will be economised.

Alderman Roche, Mayor elect of Cork, declares he has no wish for an increase of salary.

The new Ulster institution for the Deaf Dumb and Blind at Belfast, at which Lord Massereene presided, was opened on Wednesday.

At the Fair of Abbeyfeale, on Wednesday, there were many buyers in attendance, and prices in general good.

Mr. Downes' Limerick and Clare Monthly Journal for September surpasses its predecessors in novelty, humour, and entertainment. The Legend of the Cliffs of Moher, and Shawn Bawn's letter on Railways, are excellent specimens of its literary value, and must be in great favor with the public.

The Theatre Royal, Belfast, will open on Monday with the opera of La Sonnambula, the principal performers being Messrs. Croft and Reeves, with Mrs.
Croft and Mrs. Fraze

John Consadine, son of Mr. Consadine, engineer, while playing about the boats in Shannon Harbour with other children, casually fell into the canal on Sunday, and was drowned.

On Friday, a fine athletic young man, Kiran Egan, of Corocollon, Ferbane, went out after his dinner to walk his farm, taking with him his brother's gun, which was loaded, with the view of meeting hares, with which that place abounds. He had not gone many perches, when one lay before him, that suffered him to proceed within reach of her form. He then, instead of firing, attempted to strike the hare with the gun, which, from the shock, exploded, carrying away the side of his abdomen, and mortally wounding the intestines. A few hours put a period to his existence
