

Captain Phelps' of Paymastership of Lieut. Austin commanded the 51st Regiment of Foot Guards, and was promoted to the rank of Major-General in 1815. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

service companies of this day, from the service companies.

commanding the 51st Regiment of Foot Guards, and was promoted to the rank of Major-General in 1815. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

in on a tour of duty in the southern district.

at Kilkenny, and was married by his Lady. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

Bart. and K.C.B. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

the seat of Lord Wellington, and was promoted to the rank of Major-General in 1815. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

on, have arrived at the Depot Company at Fermoy. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

in May last, after being promoted to the rank of Major-General in 1815. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

his Ensigncy, and was promoted to the rank of Major-General in 1815. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

also many years in the service of the 96th Regiment, and was promoted to the rank of Major-General in 1815. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

96th Regiment, and was promoted to the rank of Major-General in 1815. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

twenty of it out of the service, and was promoted to the rank of Major-General in 1815. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

was appointed an Ensign, and was promoted to the rank of Major-General in 1815. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

with that Regiment in South America, and was promoted to the rank of Major-General in 1815. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

severely wounded, and it may be that his services were not fully appreciated.

ious service performed by him, and was promoted to the rank of Major-General in 1815. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

Master-General in 1815. He was killed at the battle of Waterloo, and was buried in the church of St. George, near the city of London.

the Government, that there were tenders from Hamburg, £1. 1s. for Beef, and £4 15s. 6d. for Pork, duty paid, which tender, in consideration of the Irish interest engaged in the trade, the Government declined.

The Agricultural and Commercial Bank of Ireland are taking active measures, we perceive, to open Branches. The Northern and Central Bank of England, which corresponds with the former, has thirty-two branches at work. The £5 shares sell for £8 15s. per share. The Agricultural and Commercial Bank are about to open accounts at the various branches of the Bank of Ireland for lodgment of the Instalment as paid up.

There was a meeting of the subscribers and friends to the Commercial and Agricultural Bank at Ennis on Monday, to pay up deposits on shares, and to forward the establishment of that concern. A branch bank would be of almost incalculable advantage to the town of Ennis, and the surrounding country.

The funeral cavalcade of the late John Connell, Esq. of this City, on Sunday morning last, was immense. The members of the several trades joined the mournful procession with their banners enveloped in crape.

The following alterations have been determined on by the Inspectors-General in the constabulary clothing, and will be acted upon in the next supply from the Commissary-General to that force:—Lock covers, carbine slings, great coat straps, sabre tasche and pan-brush to be discontinued, the picker to be kept in the pouch. Mits, belts, and haversacks, to be all black. Cloaks and great coats to be renewed every 4 years; undress-jackets to be cut round, not peaked, and no pockets to be in overalls. An improved description of cloth in the trousers. Compensation for clothing to be abolished; pouches to hold 24 rounds, as designed by Captain Duff, of the Ulster Constabulary. The dragon valise and cover to be the pattern for the entire force. The caps to be felt, no ornaments except scales, and always worn with a cover.—By this alteration they will be one-third lighter, more soldier-like, and no time lost in cleaning.

The Ballast Board have placed beacon buoys upon the Arklow, Glassgorman, and Blackwater banks.

Government have expended several thousand pounds upon the great Skelligs rock off the Kerry coast, upon which there are two light-houses.

Mr. Fitzgerald, son to the Knight of Kerry, who was married to Miss Hussey, proceeds in a short time to India, where he has been appointed to a lucrative situation.

Lorenzo Clutterbuck, Esq. has made a reduction of 25 per cent. in the rents of his tenantry, in the county of Tipperary.

The Earl of Portarlington is on a visit to his estates in Carlow and the Queen's County.

Lord Viscount Ebrington is arrived at Summerville, his seat in the County Waterford, from England. His Lordship came round by Dublin.

Mr. Cobbett arrives in Waterford from Dublin this day, and yesterday there was a preparatory meeting of his political admirers there to address him.

A subscription list is opened in Carlow, for relief of the

although bitter upon the support unto the end, we have been called anity in this la to our care are proposed plan Church, we ap from those pur appropriation Commission re spirit of the bi the United Ch members belon country, with ment of the hi State is bound and that such purity of its d Apostolic orde your has been country, we se alone the bless and a virtual a ban of a natio conviction tha Church depen in this country with England, various measu subvert it, and preserve it una

To the Knight of Kerry

Great Britain
“The Petition assembled in the fifth day of

“We, the your honorab solicitude for church, upon interests of Se have been fo menaced, our tute, the Clau Parliament, by property shou been consider sent to the sa of a principle within the rea lot, we are p reliance upon of that churc the preservat dearest interes of being com