

...enforced to tend to me, and of reinforcement of troops and a supply of stores, which I had some time ordered to be in readiness to join me, by ...boor, from the carnatic, considering necessary preliminary measures for ena-to proceed to the attack of Seringapa-d I at the same time, communicated orders to General Abercromby, and di-him to use every exertion in his power, might be consistent with the safety of the under his command, to prepare himself manner that I prescribed, to give me ual assistance when I should reach the ene-ital.

A Gung made a movement to the John some day that I marched from of Bangalore, I fell in with distance of about eight or nine place; but, from the want of of cavalry, it was found im-after a pursuit of considerable either to bring him to action, or to gain vantage over him, except that of taking his gun, which, owing to its carriage being down, he was obliged to leave upon the road.

My first object being to form a junction with the Nizam's cavalry, I made such movements, or took such positions, as I knew would effectually prevent Tippoo from intercepting them, or even from disturbing their march; but although I was at great pains to point out the safety of the march to Rajah Teigewunt, and to encourage him to proceed, the effects of my recommendations and requests were but slow; and, after waste of time, which, at this late season of the year, was invaluable, and which almost exhausted my patience, the junction was not made till the 13th inst.

It is not easy to ascertain the number of the corps with precision, but I suppose it to amount 5 or 16,000 horse: and, though they are extremely defective in almost every point of military discipline, yet, as the men are in general well mounted, and the chiefs have given me the strongest assurances of their disposition to do every thing in their power to promote the success of our operations, I am in great hopes that we shall derive material advantage from their assistance.

This junction being accomplished, I marched on to effect my next object without loss of time; and having arrived at my present camp on the 18th, and ordered the most expeditious measures to be taken for transporting the stores from the head of the pass, I shall commence my march again to the westward on the 22d, and after calling at Bangalore for the heavy artillery, I trust that I shall find it practicable to reach Seringapatam before the 12th of next month.

No useful purpose could be promoted by my enumerating the difficulties which I have already encountered in carrying on the operations this campaign, and it would be equally unprofitable to enlarge at present upon the obstacles which I foresee to our future progress; are, however, of so weighty a nature, that under different circumstances, I should undoubtedly proceed with more caution, and defer the attack upon the enemy's capital, till after the

The Swallow packet will remain in readiness to be dispatched in August, or sooner, if it should be thought expedient; and I shall, by that opportunity, have the honour of writing fully to you on several of these subjects, on which you must, no doubt, be anxious to receive minute information. I cannot, however, conclude this letter, without bearing the most ample testimony to the zeal and alacrity which have been uniformly manifested by his Majesty's and Company's troops, in the performance of the various duties of fatigue and danger in the course of this campaign; and assuring you, that they are entitled to the most distinguished marks of your approbation.

I have the honour to be,
with the greatest respect, Honourable Sirs,
your most obedient and most humble servant,
CORNWALLIS.

Camp at Venkettigherry,
