progressively increased, notwithstanding the utmost efforts of Medical science. Doctor Carey, with his attention to suffering humanity, having called in to his assistance the principal part of the Faculty, adopted the most decisive measures for his relief, we are concerned to say without effect, as he expired last night shortly after a severe paroxysm. It appears he was bitten, with two other children, at Pennywell, on the 29th September last—the latter have as yet escaped this dreadful malady. The last case of Hydrophobia that occurred in the vicinity of this City was the gardener of the late Rev. Mr. Burgh, in 1806.
