

was not restored until the Mayor had military guard, which cleared the streets, and all was quiet. We are unwilling to be extraordinary and most unjustifiably made upon the Magistrate; and we as he has himself deposed, had not the Club been shut out, and the invasion of the Club prohibited, the results of this affray would have been fatal to the individual originally assailed. As now before the legal authorities, we shall present any further remarks. We understand the Cork Club have also directed their Solicitor to proceed for the injury and insult offered.
