poverty. Another case came under my own observation in one of the wards of the Union hospital on Sunday morning last. I had the child transferred to the fever hospital, and the acting resident medical officer has certified it a case of typhus. The necessary precautions were adopted and disinfection carried out. I consider the cause of this is the same as the first. With regard to the two cases of typhoid from the Limerick Male Prison, the Medical Officer has assured me that all the necessary precautions have been taken. I am at present engaged in tracing the cause. In connection with the system for the conveyance of contaminated articles of clothing by means of a donkey and car, on which the greater portion of these are exposed is not in keeping with the progress which a city the size and importance of Limerick should be trusting to. I suggest that a four-wheeled ambulance be provided, which can be used in the dual capacity of transferring patients to the hospital and their clothes to the disinfecting chamber." Having given particulars as to the precautions carried out, Dr. McGrath concludes:—"I have to say that the epidemic is kept well in check, and I have to express my thorough satisfaction as to the prompt manner in which notification was sent to me by the City Medical Officers, also to Dr. Clifford of Adare, who kindly sent intimation about a man who is now in Croom Union suffering from typhoid. I have also to thank the Sanitary Sub-Officers for the great assistance they have given me in carrying out the disinfecting of the several premises." The Committee expressed satisfaction at the report, which was adopted.

DEATH OF A CITY PRIEST.

The death of the Rev. Thomas Bourke, O.F.M., occurred at the Franciscan House, Henry Street, yesterday morning. The rev. gentleman had a long and much respected career. He was born about the year 1821, and after studying privately in his native city for some years, he entered St. Isidore's College, Rome, at the age of 16 years. After going through a brilliant scholastic course, he was ordained in 1849 for the Irish Mission and arrived in Dublin in 1853. In the metropolis he laboured for fourteen years, and came to Limerick in 1867 remaining here continuously till his death. During the thirty-five years he spent in Limerick he was well known and respected even by those who were not his co-religionists. Throughout his illness he was attended constantly by a nursing Sister from St. John's Hospital. At one o'clock yesterday morning after receiving the last rites of his Church he passed away. On Friday morning at 11 o'clock, Office and Requiem Mass will be sung at the church, following which, the remains will be transferred to St. Lawrence Cemetery for interment.

THE REMOUNT CASES.

The Yeomanry cases were resumed at Ennis to-day, when Colonel Lucas was recalled for cross-examination by Mr. Moriarty. He admitted that Lord Lonsdale made himself busy about the Irish horses, and made verbal complaints about them.

Witness did not think it right to state that Lord Lonsdale was within his rights in questioning the condition of any horse Irish or not. He never heard the horses Lord Lonsdale sent to Africa were the worst sent out. He had it reported to him that the Irish horses were a good class and were exceedingly useful. They were asked for from Africa and the English were not. Lord Lonsdale to his knowledge did not buy any horses.

Crown case closed at a quarter to 2 o'clock.
