

The Electric Lighting Committee have agreed to recommend the Council to advertise for a contractor for the permanent reinstatement of the street flagging removed by the cable laying, or to do the work under the City Surveyor's action.

The purchaser of the brood mare "Gitana," and foal, the property of Mr. J. O'G. Delmege, L., at Mr. Wm. B. Pitt's auction of blood stock Thursday, was Mr. Jocley Bentley, Ballyurneen, Ballybrood, and not Mr. Jos. Buckley, inadvertently stated.

The report of Dr. Stewart Woodhouse, Medical Inspector under the Prisons Board, on Limeck gaol, shows that there is nothing which would lead to the outbreak of typhoid there, the disease being carried atmospherically from the neighbouring parts of the city.

The last Organ Recital in connection with the Cork Exhibition was given yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large gathering by our talented local organist, Mons. Jos Pemen Bellens, Redemptorist Church, who also played an organ solo at the last afternoon grand concert.

The death is announced at Kilmallock of James J. Mortell, son of Mr. James Mortell, D.C., and it has been received with general regret in that district. Mr. Mortell was only 23 years of age, and much sympathy is felt with his relatives at his early death. The interment took place yesterday at Ballingaddy.

Sir Francis Brady, Bart., presided at the half-yearly meeting of the Athenry and Tuam Railway Company on Thursday. The Chairman said that the shareholders' dividend was amply secured, and would be paid on the 25th November. That was a most satisfactory position for the shareholders of any company to occupy.

Much regret has been felt locally among the many friends of the late Mr. Edward Spierin, whose death occurred at his residence, Great Southern & Western Railway Station, North Wall, on Wednesday. Mr. Spierin was for many years stationmaster at Limerick, and was very popular while in the city. He was appointed to the North Wall Station from Limerick.

THE SAD DEATH OF A NEWCASTLE MAN.

Dr. John M. Ambrose, coroner, held an inquest on Thursday evening at Barna Railway Station, touching the death of Michael McEnery, of Chapel Street, Newcastle West, who travelled by the train from Abbeyfeale, due at Newcastle West at 8 p.m., and whose body was found by the Night-watchman near the entrance to Barna tunnel, and who died a few hours after being discovered, as reported in our Thursday's issue.

Head Constable Brady acted on behalf of the police.

Mr. John Condon, solicitor, appeared in the interests of the Railway Company.

The evidence of Dr. George Pierce showed the deceased had several bones broken, and that he died from shock.

The evidence of several witnesses tended to show that the deceased got out of the train on the off-side to avoid the guard as he had no ticket, and on the guard shouting to him he jumped off the footboard and ran towards the tunnel where he was found. It was surmised that the deceased attempted to get into the train after it had started, and the doors being all fastened that he was thrown off. The jury returned a verdict of death from shock consequent on the injuries received.

THE SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT OF CONSUMPTION.

Many of our readers will be interested in a new edition, thoroughly revised, in great part rewritten, and brought thoroughly up-to-date, of Mr. Congreve's well known Book on Consumption and other Lung Diseases. This new edition is by Mr. J. Alex. Brown, who has for so many years had charge of the medical department of Mr. Congreve's business—a fact which is in itself sufficient to show that the work has been well and conscientiously done. Every detail, connected with the subject of Consumption and its Successful Treatment has been exhaustively dealt with, and in a manner that anyone can understand. In fact, the general absence of confusing medical terms, and the simple style adopted, gives the book an additional value. In the latter part will be found a number of testimonials—selected from many hundreds—which prove conclusively the
