assistance from Mr. R. G. He was rewarded for his appreciation expressed by o have had any experience hat this is no easy thing ocluding voluntary was Arnold, the organist of his usual ability. ook part in the service-afarney, Castleconnell, , Ennis, Ettagh and Kil-, Nenagh, Roscrea, Shin-The following clergy were ishop, the Very Rev the Royal, the Rev Precentor he Ven Archdeacon Jones, r, Rev Treasurer Homan, van, Rev Canons Stowell, homas, the Revs J. Ash-3. Birch, D. Cooke, F. J. Fitzgerald, G. French, K. Kempston, J. W. Lee, cDowell, E. Nixon, S. Stanistreef, T. Taylor, usly to the Service, all the nt choirs, with the clergy, ere, through the generous , lavishly supplied with ere disposed of on tables nder tents pitched on the nds in Clarisford demesne. ery, so splend d in its ountain, woodlands, and by exceptionally bright ce of unalloyed enjoyment rly attractive rendezvous. ous consideration of the in was run on the Nenagh Limerick also returns ares.

thronged from far as well

TION OF PLUMBERS ETING.

HE LIMERICK CHRONICLE. an surprised to see by your paper that at the meeting held in the Athensum, by Registration for Plumbers, nt, A. Evans & Son, was oldest and largest in this for the past 60 years. My ny representative; he is the nber in Limsrick, being rk Branch of Registration, branch; so that this firm s city for plumbing and all s.—I am, dear sir, yours, M. A. Evans.

CELLULAR UUDERCLOTHge from your heavy winter t healthy and cleanest of all lemen's Shirts, 3s upwards; Ladies' goods ordered age) at list prices. Samples lists and book on. The to be had on application nt for Limerick, C. Con-et (May 11,) deeper sorrow, because when a tie like that between mother and son was sundered-he knew what it was himself-it must leave an everlasting source of grief to any heart capable of knowing what such sorrow was. He thanked Alderman Counihan and Mr Power for their action, and indeed he would have moved in the matter himself in the direction of adjourning the Council.

The Lord Bishop would acknowledge this manifestation of themselves individually, as well as a body, and he would make it his duty to call at the lamented lady's residence and convey to his Lordship what they had done today (hear, hear.) The resolution was passed nnanimously.

DEATH OF MR MICHAEL HARTIGAN.

We announce this evening with much regret the demise of Mr Michael Hartigan, of 46, George-street, who passed away at his residence this morning after a lengthened illness. No citizen was better known in Limerick during the forty years he had been before the public. As an auctioneer he was justly celebrated, and to call him "the Tattersall of Ireland" would not be too flattering. A talented and clever business-man, those who had dealings with him found him fair and upright. He enjoyed the support of a large circle of business connections, was a thorough judge of his business, and as well known in England as in Ireland. His cheery manner always secured for him a warm welcome and the best company, and no more jovial companion could well be found. In the horse trade Mr Hartigan was still more notable, and for upwards of forty years he carried on a most successful business in this department. At one time he had quite a monopoly of the south of Ireland, and had most extensive dealings with the Governments in the purchase and supply of remount horses, not to speak of the character he bore for supplying Irish hunters of the right stuff. Indeed, any detailed account of Mr Hartigan's career would be unnecessary. so well known and so popular was he amongst all classes of the public in Limerick and surrounding counties. In his demise a familiar figure has passed away, and one whose name will long live green in the public mind. The funeral will leave 46, George-street on Sunday morning at nine o'clock for Mount St Lawrence Cemetery.

WHAT IS IT?-Murrain Drench, Scour Mixture, Fly Oil. Medicines of every kind reliable, of undoubted purity, and moderate prices, for horses, sheep, and cattle. Telegraphic and postal orders attended to without delay. JOHN LAIRD AND Co., L.P.S I., Medical Hall, Limerick. (Sept 4.)

A MISSING STEAMER'S L'G-Book WASHED Ashore—A boy picked up some papers washed ashore near Barlogue coastguard station, Skibbereen, which, on being brought to the coastguards, proved to be the log-book of the steamship Danish Prince, and which is taken as a walls and frescord roofs various other trophies of Pursuing our circuit of the ma we are arrested by the booming tower, which slowly tolls the solemn tone. Descending a slopes we find ourselves again and proceed by well-kept p extensive grounds. By ever we wander, the view on eit wealth of blossoming wood glorious lake bursts once mor find ourselves at the water's ceaseless murmur of the rippl the shingly beach. Continu proceed along a beautiful pat and reach a promontory, in v pretty shell house which; con the noble ladies of the Castle, of nature and art combined. many beauties of scenery, of faint idea is given above, the logically inclined have a rare round tower, in excellent premains of the famed west of Kilmacduagh, of the demesne. Kilmacduag "Duach's" son, which gives parish and diocese, is situate from Gort. The founder, a r flour shed in the seventh ce ecclesiastical ruins still rema alive his name in the topogr bourhood. Very curious are quity, and lovers of archeo much of interest. The old quaint inscriptions, which eve has not yet wholly erased—so Latin—are as primitive as cromlechs are also in the vi least interesting are these pu the early ages, while the rot in perfect perservation, is th All this and much more whic into detail will not fail to satis to Gort. We, who have see would say to all others "con doubtless it will be said, as of not told to me!" The Punchbowl is about or the hero of "Chillianwalla," :

Gort, and the road to it is shaded, so that it is a very being shut up a couple of carriage. Off the main road turn after leaving Gort is the lowl. Here at the turn is the of the river after running un ravine higher up, and at the road to the right it is again v and not very many yards hig ground is the wicket entranc having crossed, another wicke and after a few minutes wa proper is reached, when we lane from , which we ente departure towa attraction—namely, the caspleasure ground of Lough demesne through the several modation roads, which shall